Discover the Revolutionary Journey of Zyropathy: Helping Humanity through Nature's Healing Power

In 1992, Commander Naresh Kumar Mishra's curiosity about the healing power of food supplements sparked the idea that led to the creation of Zyropathy. With extensive studies about the human body, systems, and organs, Commander Naresh discovered how food plays a vital role in healing ailments.

Initially, without any formal name, people sought guidance from him on various ailments, leading to the birth of Zyropathy. The name "Zyro" emerged from a state of helplessness, frustration, irritation, and hopelessness while seeking title approval for a magazine. This coincidentally led to the discovery of the Kabalarian Philosophy of Canada, which revealed that "Zyro" meant "Helping Humanity."

Today, Zyropathy has become a formidable and promising health system, offering natural cures for a variety of ailments without surgical interventions or painful procedures. It has helped over two lakh patients across eighteen countries, making it a revolutionary breakthrough in natural healing. Join the journey of Zyropathy and discover the healing power of nature

Zyropathy is backed by scientific facts and methods, with its founders extensively studying ailments and cures through nutrition supplements, leading to a breakthrough in the early 90s. The success of their healing combinations spread through word-of-mouth, and by 2007 they had already advised more than ten thousand patients. This year they launched their maiden book 'Healthy Living with Food Supplements,' which has sold more than 4 lakh copies until now, providing answers to several questions related to chronic degenerative disorders and highlighting the medicinal qualities of various herbs present in their supplements, along with symptoms, causes, and remedies for various ailments.

Zyropathy's natural healing system is based on the principle that the "Body does its maintenance and repair, provided it has all ingredients," acting as a catalyst in reducing toxic levels and increasing the body's immunity, with zero side effects. Unlike other medical systems that heavily depend on medicines and only control symptoms, Zyropathy abides by the laws of nature and works to eliminate the ailment's root cause.

Formulated at their manufacturing units in Rai, Mohali, and Ahmedabad, Zyro naturals- their water-soluble supplements are extracted from natural plants and herbs and are available in the form of tablets and capsules at exclusive Zyro Centres and various e-commerce platforms including Amazon.
